

We really enjoyed the efficiency and quality of the work performed by Brandon. We had requested a quote for the job and since we agreed on the quote and had already purchased the door, he did the installation on the spot despite the fact that it was a Friday afternoon and he had already worked the whole day. Brandon was professional from the beginning to the end. The new door is straight and closes perfectly. It may seem odd to note that but it is not rare to meet contractors who do not know or do not bother to use a level or shims when installing a door. In conclusion, we would use Brandon's services again; he is not only good at his job but also a very pleasant person.
